“On behalf of Ronald McDonald House Charities, I would like to extend our sincere thanks to Aramark for their continued support of our mission and the millions of children and families we serve each year,” said Kelly Dolan, President and CEO, RMHC. “This in-kind donation comes at a time of immense need for our Chapters and we are grateful to be included in this tremendous initiative.”

The RMHC face mask donation program will run through December 14, 2021 and has a donation cap of five million masks. To learn more about the RMHC donation campaign and purchase a non-medical Washable Preventive Mask (3-pack), visit aramarkuniform.com.

Aramark has a long history of supporting RMHC through its annual employee Aramark Building Community Day, a day set aside for employees to assist nonprofit community partners with service projects or donations.

Throughout the COVID-19 pandemic and in keeping with its 84-year history of answering the call for assistance in times of need, Aramark has been working harder than ever to provide food and resources to communities feeling the impact. During the early days of the pandemic, Aramark redeployed its Uniform Services division production lines to manufacture essential personal protective equipment (PPE) needed during the public health crisis, with a focus on helping the heroes working in hospitals and in other critical roles across the United States. This summer, Aramark donated 250,000 face masks to the American Red Cross, to be worn by Red Cross staff at blood drives, protecting workers and the volunteer donors who are key to saving lives, and 25,000 cloth masks to the Alliance for Strong Families and Communities, to share with their nationwide network of members.

<sup>1</sup>These masks are not for medical use, do not protect against small respiratory particles that can cause illness and only provide extra face coverage that may help prevent the spread of large particles.

<sup>2</sup>With the purchase of a non-medical Washable Preventive Mask (3-pack) from December 15, 2020 – December 14, 2021, Aramark will donate three (3) non-medical 7" 3-ply Disposable Masks to RMHC Chapters up to a maximum of 5 million masks. The minimum contribution for this program will be 50,000 masks.
